17. Discuss any trends which are likely to impact the Issuer including trends in the Issuer's market(s) or political/regulatory trends.

Investments in natural resource companies involve a significant degree of risk. The degree of risk increases substantially where the Issuer's properties are in the exploration stage as opposed to the development stage. The Issuer's property is in the exploration stage and is currently has a limited body of commercial ore. The proposed exploration programs are for exploratory searches for additional ore. Mineral exploration and development involves a high degree of risk and few properties which are explored are ultimately developed into producing mines.

The Issuer will require additional funds to further explore and, if successful, develop and mine the Wawa Property and any additional properties that may be acquired. The Issuer may not have sufficient funds to carry out the completion of its planned exploration program, and may have to obtain other financing or raise additional funds. The Issuer has limited financial resources, and there is no assurance that additional funding will be available to the Issuer to carry out the completion of all the activities of its planned exploration program, for additional exploration or for the substantial capital that is typically required in order to place a property into commercial production. There can be no assurance that the Issuer will be able to obtain adequate financing in the future or that the terms of such financing will be favorable. Failure to obtain such additional financing could result in the delay or indefinite postponement of further exploration and development of its properties.

The potential profitability of mineral properties is dependent upon many factors beyond the Issuer's control. For instance, world prices of and markets for metals are unpredictable, highly volatile, potentially subject to governmental fixing, pegging and/or controls and respond to changes in domestic, international, political, social and economic environments. Another factor is that rates of recovery of metals may vary from the rate experienced in tests and a reduction in the recovery rate will adversely affect profitability and, possibly, the economic viability of a property. Profitability also depends on the costs of operations, including costs of labour, equipment, electricity, environmental compliance or other production inputs. Such costs will fluctuate in ways the Issuer cannot predict and are beyond the Issuer's control, and such fluctuations will impact on profitability and may eliminate profitability altogether. Additionally, due to worldwide economic uncertainty, the availability and cost of funds for development and other costs have become increasingly difficult, if not impossible, to project. These changes and events may materially affect the financial performance of the Issuer
