MEALSHARE ENTERS INTO STRATEGIC ALLIANCE WITH GLANCE

VANCOUVER, BC: Mealshare is pleased to announce that it has joined forces with Glance Pay to work together to end youth hunger in our lifetime.

Glance Pay, the wholly-owned subsidiary of Glance Technologies Inc. (CSE: GET/FKT: GJT), will help to bring that goal a little closer to reality. Our strategic alliance with Glance Pay establishes a mutual referral and marketing relationship to make it easier for diners to actively provide meals for youth in need in Vancouver, B.C. and surrounding communities. Mealshare and Glance Pay have already begun planning events at Glance Pay's participating restaurants to raise money for Mealshare to provide meals to youth in need.

In British Columbia, approximately 8.2% of households are food insecure<sup>1</sup>, and each month over 850,000 Canadians turn to food banks for help.<sup>2</sup> Child poverty rates in British Columbia are above the national average, with approximately one in five British Columbian children living below the poverty line.<sup>3</sup> Food insecurity can be harmful to children's healthy growth and development, and living in a food-insecure environment can pose numerous health risks for children. Mealshare is looking forward to working with Glance Pay to help eliminate food insecurity for youth in British Columbia.

Glance Pay is a streamlined payment system that allows customers to pay their restaurant bill instantly with their mobile device. Glance Pay aims to revolutionize how smartphone users choose where to dine, settle their restaurant bills, access their payment records and interact with their favourite restaurants.

"Glance Pay is one of those apps that just makes sense. Time really is money, so having an app that saves you 5 or 10 minutes every time you eat out makes a huge difference. It makes life easier for both the diner and restaurant." – Derek Juno, VP Business Development, Mealshare.

Mealshare is creating a movement by making giving as easy as possible... and it's working!
