

TOWER ONE FORMS ARGENTINA SUBSIDIARY

VANCOUVER, BC, Canada – February 9, 2017 – Tower One Wireless Corp (CSE: TO) (OTC: TOWTF) (Frankfurt: A2AFT9) (the “Company”) announces that it has formed a 100% owned subsidiary in Argentina. The company also announces that it has taken assignment of all the assets, trade secrets and receivables of Rojo Resources (RJ:tsxv), which had previously contemplated a change of business to focus on Argentina’s burgeoning telecom sector. This is of particular interest as for the most part Argentina is serviced by the same wireless providers as Colombia and many other countries of Latin America.

About Argentina Telecom

Although Argentina has one of the more advanced telecom infrastructures in Latin America, significant investment is still required in the coming years to update service in rural areas. The government has embarked on a progressive, large-scale National Broadband Plan, which contemplates over 10,000 new cell sites over the next three years. After the election in December 2015, Argentina’s President, a former businessman, promised to bring in reforms to entice international investments in infrastructure. Minister of Communications Oscar Aguad said in September that the new regulatory reforms could lead to US$20billion in telecom infrastructure investments over the next four years.
