News Release #17-10

March 2, 2017

Alta Vista Subsidiary Pioneer Aerial creates a Strategic Partnership with Abitibi Geophysics

Alta Vista Ventures Ltd. (CSE:UAV) reports that their wholly owned subsidiary Pioneer Aerial Surveys Ltd. (“Pioneer Aerial”) has signed a term sheet establishing a strategic partnership with Abitibi Geophysics Inc. (“Abitibi”), an internationally renowned geophysics company.

Under the terms of the agreement Abitibi and Pioneer Aerial will operate on a revenue sharing basis for surveys organized by Abitibi. These airborne magnetometer surveys will be branded as AeroVision™ and use Pioneer Aerial’s UAV-MAG™ system.

Michael Burns, director of Alta Vista comments “This partnership is an exciting opportunity for Pioneer Aerial to significantly expand its market presence and deliver high quality surveys in partnership with an internationally respected geophysics company. We have already successfully completed two joint surveys this year, and are looking forward to performing additional surveys with Abitibi.”

Representatives of Pioneer Aerial will be at Abitibi’s booth at the 2017 Prospectors and Developers Association of Canada annual conference in Toronto where investors and clients are encouraged to visit and learn more about the strategic partnership.

About Abitibi Geophysics

Abitibi Geophysics is a premier geophysical company renowned internationally for its expertise in mineral exploration and in geophysics, with significant know-how in geophysical surveys including survey design, data acquisition, processing, modelling/inversion, and interpretation. Of importance to the newly formed strategic partnership, Abitibi is also developing leading edge lightweight sensors for electromagnetic exploration that could potentially be used with a UAV.
