CAPTIVA VERDE COMMENCES LARGE SCALE COMMERCIAL OPERATIONS

CALGARY, ALBERTA – August 31, 2015. Captiva Verde Industries Ltd. (“Captiva Verde” or the “Company”) is pleased to report that large scale planting of certified organic leafy vegetable operations started today, at the Company’s Arizona project. Planting begins at the rate of 65 acres per week and according to the August 2nd, 2015 independent report by an Arizona based Professional Agronomist, expected yields will average around 7,000 pounds per acre and if weather conditions are favorable going into the fall, yields can reach up to 10,000 pounds per acre, thus yielding between 455,000 and 650,000 pounds per week. The first of these repetitive weekly harvests is anticipated 25 to 30 days from today’s date. This rate of planting and harvesting will be repeated every week per year and will be continued in Arizona through late November and then transition at the same rate to Imperial Valley, California for the period November through March. This rate will be further continued back to Arizona in March through May and then continued for the summer season in Tehachapi, then returning back to Arizona for late August, early September of the following year for a complete year round cycle. The first published financial results for the first full period of commercial operations will be reported in the company’s 4th quarter financial statements for the period ending December 31, 2015.

The company further reports its unaudited condensed consolidated financial and operating results for the interim three-month period ended June 30, 2015. For complete disclosure of the Company’s interim financial results and Management’s Discussion and Analysis, please go to www.sedar.com and view documents listed under the Company’s name.
